FAR FROM THE ORDINARY ON YOUR DOORSTEP

As a previous winner of the Anglia In Bloom award, Elmstead Market is well known for its carefully-tended public spaces and floral displays, but is also home to everything you might need on a day-to-day basis. At the centre of the village, the Budgens supermarket is perfect for regular groceries, while the nearby petrol station and convenience store has necessities, snacks and on-the-go items.

A variety of major supermarkets catering to every aspect of your household needs is available just ten minutes' drive away in Colchester, and it's worth looking close to home for a fresh breakfast, lunch or coffee – with the ever popular Shed Cafe at Lanswoodpark literally moments from home. The villages and small towns surrounding Elmstead Market also boast a range of family businesses offering everything from freshly baked goods to quality meats, and local farm produce – not to mention a number of pubs to be enjoyed after a countryside stroll or coastal walk.

Elmstead Market has a strong neighbourhood spirit, with an active community centre and cricket club, post office and salon, fish and chip shop and a very highly regarded Indian restaurant. The village's primary school, just a 5-minute drive from Chattowood, was recently rated 'Good' by Ofsted.

The development's name is a nod to the renowned National Heritage listed Beth Chatto Gardens nearby – a historically significant destination for ecology lovers and plant enthusiasts for over sixty years. Lanswood are delighted to be collaborating with this inspirational family-run garden nursery on this project as our responsible values on sustainability, ecology and biodiversity marry-up perfectly – and the award-winning point of interest is an outstanding reminder that this collection occupies one of the most desirable locations in the area.

THE LOCATION

CHATTOWOOD, CLACTON ROAD, ELMSTEAD, ESSEX

With the A133 on your doorstep, within just a few minutes' drive you'll be able to access not just all of Colchester's opportunities nearby, but also the beautiful beaches of Essex's Sunshine Coast along the Tendring Peninsula to the east and the gateway to the wider Essex and Suffolk regions via the A120 to the north.

Connecting with the port of Harwich and popular destinations along the Stour estuary, the A120 meets the A12 just outside Colchester, from where it's just 28 miles to the bustling centre of Chelmsford and 45 miles to the M25. Northbound, the A12 passes through Constable Country to Ipswich and the A14 – the fastest route onwards to Cambridge and the Midlands.

If you prefer to leave the car at home, the nearest train stations are at Alresford (3 miles away by road) or Wivenhoe (3.7 miles), with the latter having better parking facilities. Trains run via Colchester mainline station, often without need to change, with an average journey time to London Liverpool Street of approximately 1hr 15 mins. Furthermore, the imminent completion of Crossrail will enable faster and easier journeys from Shenfield all the way across greater London to Reading.
